

Chapel Press are a long established North West based B2 commercial printing company, who also offer digital printing, business gifts and wide format printing.

Established over 32 years and financially strong, we have the following sales position to assist in our growth plans.

Senior Sales Executive

This Senior Sales position within Chapel Press requires an experienced sales executive to both introduce and target new business as well as bringing on board a strong existing client base.

Chapel Press are looking to grow all areas of its available products which include commercial B2 print, digital print, business gifts and wide format printing.

This is an exciting opportunity for a highly driven and self motivated sales person who has the ability to identify and secure new business and build long term relationships. The ideal candidate is currently working in the b2/b1 industry with a proven track record of selling commercial print to blue chip end users, agencies, print management companies and is able to work well as part of our existing sales team.

Salary is negotiable depending on experience plus the usual car allowance and commissions etc...

To apply in strictest confidence, please submit your CV and a covering letter including salary details to davescott@chapelpress.com.
